

Ardebili Basiji researcher stated :

Plasma knowledge is effective in the treatment of corona virus disease

Basij researcher Ardabili said: Plasma knowledge is effective in the treatment of corona virus

According to the Science and Technology News Agency from Ardabil; Pedram Barzegar, a 24-year-old senior student of architecture and a Basij researcher in various fields, used his knowledge of plasma “ GANS “ to treat affected Corona virus patients.

Barzegar said : During these researches, I had the honor of getting acquainted with the great Iranian scientist, Professor Mehran Tavakoli keshe

He added: As one of the specialists in nuclear reactors, he presented a special knowledge called “ Space Plasma “ knowledge, which meets many needs of society and has a great positive impact on various aspects of life and humanity. Knowledge that can be called it the knowledge of creation .

The Basij researcher said: Considering that this knowledge is comprehensive and is used in various fields, here I want to deal exclusively with the issue of corona virus and the method of prevention and recovery of infected patients, with this knowledge, and its mechanism of action.

We now know that the virus has an energetic nature and is not an object. As a result, we can not physically look at the virus, so how is it possible to control the virus on a physical level !?

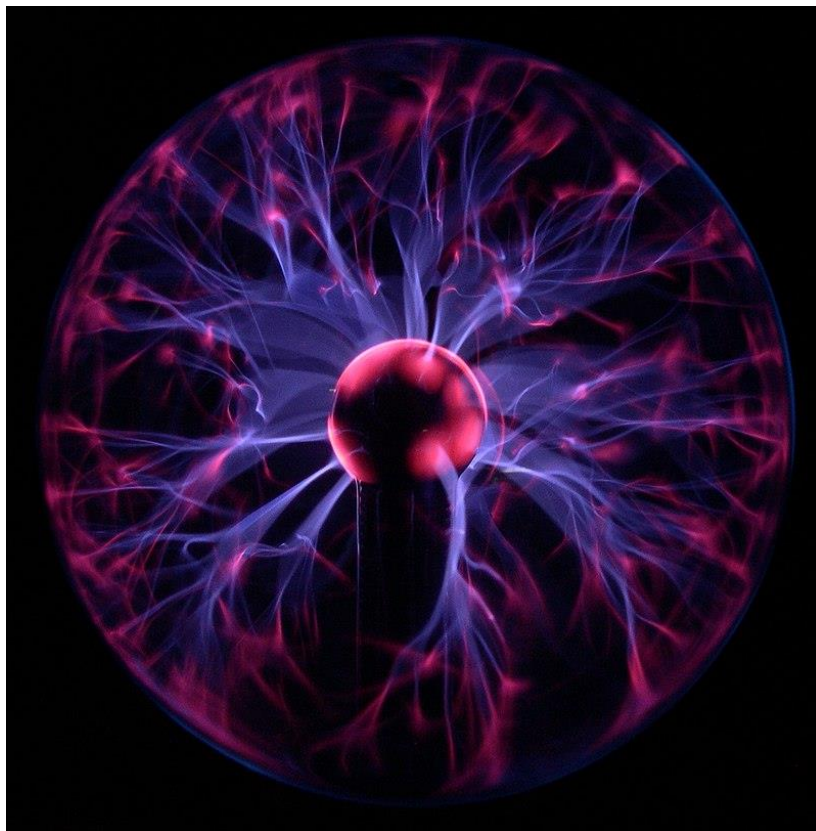

We know the virus as energy packages that manifest themselves in interaction with the energy of the body's cells and the loss of energy, and it is at this point that we see the virus physically. If its main nature was energy, not an infection known as corona virus.

What we have done to heal the involved patients is beyond the level of common knowledge today. Because our actions have been at the level of the main nature of the virus.

The law in plasma science states that energy is always transferred from stronger to weaker. According to this principle, Mr. M.T.Keshe designed and engineered a system (a plasma reactor system) from which the processed product, " GAs in Nanometer Solid Station " Which we briefly call it " GANS ".

We mentioned earlier that energy is transferred from stronger to weaker to equalize and ballance field forces And this is exactly the mechanism of action. That is, we need an energy level that is homogeneous to the energy of the virus but far less powerful than the energy of the virus.

We have now developed a product called " Cup Of Life GANS " (solid nanoparticles) which has the same energy as the virus but it has less energy level from corona virus This is a specialized part of the knowledge of how these calculations and design and its effectivity

Now, just by adding drinking water to GANS and after GANS settles, we use only clear water above the GANS , which is charged by GANS , we use it in three ways: local spraying , respiratory and drinking, and in a period of 2 to 4 days The patient who affected with corona virus , regain his or her health .

Since March 2020 , measures have been taken to obtain the necessary licenses, and during this year, numerous and valid tests have been performed in the reference laboratory centers in the country.

Regarding the safety of this material, the result of MTT test related to GANS confirms its safety. Also, several experiments have been performed in this direction, inside and outside the country and the results can be presented

The main problem we face is the administrative bureaucracy and the modernity of this knowledge. Because the relevant institutions that are responsible for reviewing and issuing licenses did not have the information and expertise in this knowledge. And because this technology does not exist in the information circle and their review and licensing charts, we are practically at a dead end.

As one of the knowledge seeker of plasma technology I urge high-ranking national and military officials to pay special attention to this important issue, because this knowledge is considered a miracle in the current situation.

Finally, my special thanks to Professor Mehran Tavakoli Keshe for providing us with this knowledge unconditionally and share it freely to all the world and for of this knowledge. And it is commendable that their red line has been Iran for many years and they emphasized that this knowledge should be presented to the world from Iran under the name of Iran.

I would also like to thank the officials, professors and doctors who accompanied us on this path with an open and humanitarian outlook .

<http://stnews.ir/p=94689>